The Support of a Reputable Agency

Snap have worked with many different families and clients over the years. Working 1:1 with clients with a disability or additional needs is one of the most rewarding jobs, we also appreciate it is not always the easiest. We are here not only to match you to great jobs, but to support you throughout the recruitment process.

Professional but Personal Service

Our business is focused on achieving an objective for our clients - and we recruit motivated people like you to achieve that. We understand the significant part you are going to play. Snap was started by an SEN nanny, Sally Britton and Andrew Knight who has a daughter Camilla, who has cerebral palsy, so we have an understanding from both sides. >> Learn more about Snap Care

What We Ask of You

We will very happily put in a great deal of work on your behalf to find you a great job. For us to be able to do this, we need to work together. We will always give you all the information, and we expect the same in return. We work with families and clients who may be under a great amount of pressure and we only want to work with people who can help their situation, not complicate it!

We Ask You:

- To be clear about your availability and ability to commit to a job
- To be honest and open with us, to provide accurate information and feedback in a timely manner
- To keep good lines of communication with us
- To understand how we work as an agency with you and clients and to ensure there is loyalty between all parties
- To provide us with all the documentation we need in a timely fashion
- To represent Snap in a professional manner at all times, both prior to obtaining a job and when working for a Snap client. We have worked hard to get our reputation and you will benefit from being part of that.
- To keep us informed of any changes in your job, for example if your hours are increased or a temporary role is extended.

We look forward to working with you to find you a rewarding job supporting a child, young person or adult with a disability or additional needs.
